New artwork to celebrate Indigenous seasons at Simmons Street

We've partnered with Wurundjeri artist Alex Kerr to create stunning new artwork at Simmons Street, South Yarra.

His designs wrap the building façade and stairwells and are centred around the theme of Caring for Country and the seven Wurundjeri seasons.

Waring (Wombat season): large wombat mural

Guling (Orchid season): koala artwork

Buath Gurru (November grass flowering season): bat stencil artwork

Luk (Eel season): eel stairwell screens

The Simmons Street building will be opening later this year, creating more homes for more Victorians.
